CLASS CANVAS CREATIONS

This year, children and teachers worked together to create canvases that represent the Hindley family. Teachers' hands provided the supporting branches of our trees and students used their limitless creativity to form hearts that are unique as the children who made them. The children enjoyed creating a symbol of their own individuality. More importantly, they were excited to be a part of a project that will not only represent their Hindley family, but will benefit that family once auctioned at the Hindley Happening.
